Leisure Activities:*

Boyce-Beatty

LEISURE UNIT

If any mathematics book ever had an abundance of motivation, it is the Boyce-Beatty LEISURE UNIT. The natural interest of pupils in leisure pursuits is utilized through presentation of the mathematics exercises in terms of sports, vacations, group activities, public recreation centers, etc.

The pupils learn to keep accounts on ticket sales for school activities, to act as treasurer for a Scout Troop, and to make budgets for group affairs. They learn about taxes and bonds as means of financing parks and highways. They work out the cost of instalment buying of automobiles. The General Student Association's buying procedures and record-keeping problems are fun as presented in the LEISURE UNIT.

Chapter titles are: "The Importance of Leisure Today", "Making Budgets for Group Affairs", "How to Handle Money and Keep Accounts for Group Affairs", "Some Group Ways of Raising Money for Leisure Needs", "Procedures in Buying and Making Payments", and "Applying What We Have Learned".

THE EATON BOOK-REPORT SYSTEM

Designed by HAROLD T. EATON, A.M.

Form A for Novels, Drama, Biography, etc.
Form B for Essays, Short Stories, etc.
Form C for The Book Review
Form D for The Photoplay Review
Form E for Biography
Form F for Travel
Student's Permanent Record Card

The system requires more thinking and less writing on the part of the student; it asks for less reading and correcting on the part of the teacher. It provides a handy, cumulative, permanent record of the student's reading; no more yearly or semi-yearly reports on the same books unless the teacher approves of the second reading and is willing to give credit for it. Ask for sample copies and see what an efficient time saver this is.
